

Teak Seating and tables

Vegas and Reno teak seating were introduced in 2013, along with the Hawaii bench, Alice folding chairs and beautiful teak tops stocked in many sizes To choose a good supplier that would manufacture a good quality contract product worthy of our marketing we visited several factories in Indonesia. We found one and they build a very nice chair and table, and since we are importing direct from the manufacturer without a trading company in the middle, we are extremely competitive.

The chairs have mortise and tenon construction. They stack well and are comfortable without cushions. The tables are thicker than the bargain tables on the market and are screwed, not stapled together with great reinforcements. All goods are first assembled and sanded, then weathered to raise the grain, and then re-sanded to assure a smooth surface. Some live knots, sapwood or heartwood streaks and white streaks will add interest to our teak, while keeping the cost reasonable. All teak is plantation raised and our teak is mostly young teak made from trees thinned out of the plantation to make room for trees to grow larger without crowding.

The teak furniture is supplied without finishing and will fade to grey in time unless oiled, varnished, or treated with a special Teak Protector that uses nanotechnology to seal the pores. Mineral oil can also be used as it is inexpensive, food safe, and does not get sticky. Any oil will have to be reapplied from time to time depending on usage and weather.

We have continued the line unchanged for 2017 except that we have added a couple of sizes of tops and increased stock. We have found that we are VERY competitive in price and that our construction is first rate. A picture of the underside of a top is featured in the catalog to highlight the construction..
