STICKLEY®

Left to right: John George, Leopold, Albert, Gustav and Charles Stickley

Established in 1900 in central New York, Stickley has a long and distinguished history of fine furniture design and quality American manufacturing. Best known for its development and popularizing of Arts & Crafts furniture, perhaps the most iconic of all American furniture styles. Over its nearly 120 years, Stickley has designed and produced many styles of furniture to best serve its customers' needs, producing the right furniture for the ever-changing style of homes and the way we live. In its journey, Stickley has also incorporated the venerable American brands John Widdicomb and Nichols and Stone into its portfolio, preserving their specific styles and craftsmanship and providing an even broader selection of furniture for home-makers and designers.

In 1974, as the last of the Stickley family retired from the business the company was purchased by Alfred and Aminy Audi, who at the time were Stickley's largest dealer. Under their careful stewardship, Stickley has seen successful continuous growth and today operates out of a state of the art facility close to the site of the original factory in Manlius, New York. Today under the leadership of Mrs. Aminy Audi and her son Edward, Stickley continues to produce beautiful handmade American furniture from solid American and precious exotic woods. Each piece is constructed using traditional joinery techniques and hand finished with pride and skill in a range of unique finishes producing furniture that will last a lifetime. Whatever your preferred style may be or the style of home you are decorating, Stickley has just the right piece of furniture.

Stickley Collections

MISSION

Honesty and integrity of construction are essential elements of Arts & Crafts furniture. All Mission collection furniture is handmade and finished from solid American White Oak or Black Cherry using traditional joinery that makes it strong and long-lasting and is a part of the intrinsic beauty of the furniture. Stickley Mission collection includes three distinct style: Arts & Crafts designs from the original Craftsmen Catalog, the architecturally inspired Highlands and the distinctive Pasadena Bungalow collection.

— Craftsmen Catalog (name?)

The continued success of these original designs demonstrate the timelessness and practical nature of the original Stickley designs. The clean lines and pureness of function make the Stickley Mission Collection look as appropriate in today's homes as it was over a century ago. The collection includes original Stickley pieces and works inspired by the designs of Harvey Ellis, featuring his signature inlays, as well as, Roycroft and Limbert, renowned furniture makers in their own right. Stickley Starters is an elegant and practical collection of children's bedroom and study furniture.

— Highlands

Holding true to the principles of Arts & Crafts construction, the Highlands Collection finds its inspiration in the designs of the well-known Scottish Architect Charles Renne Mackintosh and the Glasgow School of Art & Design. It is characterized by the use of strong rectilinear geometric shapes both in its form and as decoration with incised and deeply engraved patterns.

— Pasadena Bungalow

The Pasadena Bungalow Collection is inspired by the Arts & Crafts homes of Pasadena, California and the Asian-influenced designs of master architects and furniture designers Charles and Henry Greene. Constructed of cherry with blackwood accents and a specially created hand polished finish, this collection will lend a unique flavor and refinement to a home.

MODERN

The Stickley Modern collection encompasses an array of styles that share the modernist principals of simplicity and purpose. The result is a clean-cut, sophisticated urban look that complements other Stickley furniture styles to create your own unique environment. Stickley Modern is handcrafted with the same techniques and high standards of construction and finish as all Stickley pieces. Studio by Stickley furnishes the unexpected. As part of the Modern Collection, it is a carefully curated, versatile, eclectic blend of design, material, and carefully selected finishes.

CLASSIC

Handsome well-proportioned the Stickley Classic collection creates elegantly formal rooms as easily as warm casual welcoming homes. Stickley classics are expertly handmade in beautiful solid black cherry or rich warm mahogany and expertly finished by hand. The Finger Lakes collection is named for the historic wine country of upstate New York. These substantial cherry pieces with a subtle rustic charm offer the patina of generations of well-loved use.

NICHOLS & STONE

Founded in Bedminster, MA in 1762, Nichols & Stone is perhaps the oldest furniture maker in America. Nichols & Stone was incorporated into Stickley in 2008, allowing this venerable American furniture brand to continue making its distinctively handsome comfortable styles. In its long history, Nichols & Stone have produced a variety of looks, spanning from traditional to sleek contemporary — including its trademark dining furniture and beloved Windsor chairs.

JOHN WIDDICOMB

Founded in 1858 in Grand Rapids, MI, John Widdicomb established its reputation producing the finest French, Italian, English, and Russian style classic furniture. Often the inspired by classical Greek and Egyptian art and architecture, the collection has a long history of high style and exquisite detailing. Acquired in 2002, Stickley has carefully kept alive the skills and techniques to produce these pieces to the original demanding standards, including the exquisitely detailed marquetry and extraordinary hand polished finishes.

PLATFORM STORAGE BED SYSTEM

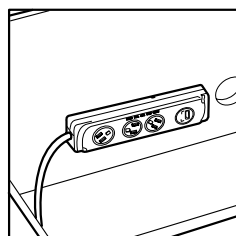

Available on all Stickley beds, the platform storage system turns the space under the bed into practical and easy to use storage. The platform has over 19 cubic feet of space, with four large capacity draws and a full-width storage nook.

Pull-down doors at the head of the bed provide access to a velvet lined 4¾ cu. ft., through bed storage compartment for extra long items.

Drawers fully extend on metal gliders for easy opening. Holds up to 125 lbs. and has 3½ cu. ft. of storage. The drawers are sealed, keeping dust out.

Platform storage beds come complete with power strip and cable management to neatly arrange lamps, radio and charger cables.

Twin Willow Bed
 AN-1986-T-032 H55 W43½ L81

Oak dressers & night stands have dark copper drawer pulls.

Cherry dressers with curly maple drawer fronts have walnut pulls on a walnut inlay with copper ring.

Cherry dressers with solid cherry drawer fronts have cherry pulls.
